Remembrance: Queenswood in WWI

In Chapel on Wednesday, we reflected on the generosity and self-sacrifice of Queenswood girls and their families during the First World War.

Weekend activity: make a poppy brooch

This year, in addition to buying a poppy from one of the appeal collectors, you can choose to make your own poppy brooch and make an online donation to the campaign.

This week I am reading...

Annie is starting college and she can't wait for the adventure to begin. No more being told what to do. No more rules. No more labels. As a teenager with cerebral palsy, independence matters most to Annie. The last thing she's looking for is romance... Big thoughts, big dreams and bigger laughs, Jenny McLaghlan is the star of feel-good fiction and Truly, Wildly, Deeply will not disappoint her readers.

Queenswood's Invincible Tennis Teams Through to National Finals

We are delighted to announce that our U13 and U15 tennis teams have both triumphed at the Regional Indoor Finals this week, and have qualified for the National Finals at Bolton Arena in December. It's the first time that two Queenswood teams have simultaneously reached the National finals.

In Memoriam: Lord Stamp, 1935-2022

We were saddened to learn of the passing of former School Governor Trevor Charles Bosworth Stamp, the 4th Baron Stamp, last month. Lord Stamp served on the governing board for many years. He was a devoted and conscientious member of the Queenswood community, officiating at numerous school events – including, notably, the opening of the refurbished Stamp House in 2011.

Sixth Form Politics Trip to the US Embassy

On Monday the Upper Sixth visited the new US Embassy in Nine Elms, London as part of a programme aimed at preparing students for A-Level. As well as a series of lectures from University Professors on the theory of the workings of Congress, there were two former Members of Congress who had flown in to make themselves available.

GCSE and A-Level Music Concert

GCSE and A-Level musicians treated us to performances of works by Mascagni, Mozart, Lin-Manuel Miranda and many more in the Ernest Read Hall on Wednesday 9 November. There was a wide range of genres and instruments showcased at this special concert, including a highly entertaining duet arrangement of Dvořák's 'Humoresque'.

Clapham South's Super 'Slumber Party' Supper

Clapham South had great fun on Thursday evening as they celebrated their House's achievements and camaraderie at a slumber party-themed House Supper. The pupils had loads of fun playing a 'guess the character' game, competing in a movie quiz and singing along to their favourite karaoke hits.

November Sports Round-up

We bring you recent highlights from the QueenswoodSport Instagram feed. There have been some superb individual and team achievements for our tennis players and cross-country runners over the past few weeks. Many congratulations to everyone who has participated in sport this term – we're very proud of you!

Gothic Tales and Fingernails

Their have been spooky happenings at Queenswood recently but please don't be alarmed – the students have been thoroughly enjoying the scary season! After studying The Woman in Black, Year 9 wrote their own ghoulishly gothic tales and the Catering team provided a spine-tingling Halloween supper for our Boarders. Be afraid!

Artist of the Month: Chloe's Powerful Portrait

Congratulations to Chloe D (Year 13) Queenswood's latest Artist of the Month. Her striking portrait is currently on display in Mrs Cameron's office.
